Errata

1. Since this document was retrieved from an active Ford dealership parts counter in the early 1980's, as Ford was transitioning from a paper based system to electronic, we can't confirm that it is 100% complete. However, it was obviously treated with care as you can see by the condition. With this in mind;
    a. There are missing page numbers throughout the document. However, the change notices provide instructions to "destroy" certain pages. What you are receiving in this manual is the exact representation of what was retrieved from the dealer. Should you have any of the missing pages which you believe should be included, kindly email them to Forel Publishing for review and possible including in an updated version of the master document which can be downloaded with a valid license.

    b. We do not have change notices prior to #15, but assume that the corrections provided in those change notices were incorporated into the body of the manual.

    c. Changes after change notice 33 (June 1968), if such changes exist, are most likely not included in the manual as of the time of this initial effort (March 2018). If any such documents are provided, this manual will be updated to reflect the new information.

Helpful hints for Searching

1. The part number formatting in this document omits the first dash commonly found stamped or imprinted on actual parts and part boxes. For example, a part labelled C7ZZ-2B901-B on the box will be listed in this document as C7ZZ 2B091-B. Note the missing “dash”. Keep this in mind when performing text searches.
2. While text recognition was performed, with the express intent to assist in text based searches, please note that the software is not perfect. For example, the letter “O” and number “0” look very similar. When the software sees a “O” or “0” in the middle of a string containing text (C0AE for example), the number “0” can be incorrectly interpreted as a letter “O”. The same situation can occur with the number “1”, lower case letter “l”, and upper case letter “I”. If you are searching for something with these characters, and don’t get the results that you need, use alternate “look alike” characters.
3. Another alternative to finding parts would be to limit the search to the core number. In the example above, search for “2B091” instead of the full part number, and then visually look through all of the “2B091” parts to see if you can find what you are looking for.
4. If you can’t find the core number, look for nearby numbers. For example, if you are looking for a “2034” brake part (which is a bad example because it does not exist), you will come up empty. Next look for “2033”, “2032”, “2031” etc. until you get a hit, and then scroll up or down to get to the number you are interested in.
5. Some final items to remember when searching, are the differences between Engineering Numbers, Casting Numbers and Part Numbers.
    a. Engineering Numbers are established at the time of Design, and most always have an "E" in the fourth position of the prefix; such as "C60E-8501-A". These are numbers that one would typically see on Engineering Drawings and in Assembly Manuals.
    b. Casting numbers usually carry the same prefix as Engineering Numbers, and are cast into the part, or stamped into it. Keeping with the water pump example, this is C60E-A.
    c. Part Numbers are assigned to parts once they have been made available for servicing a vehicle, and packaged for sale. These are thus "Service Part Numbers". For example, C5AZ-8501-E.
    d. As the Master Parts and Accessories Catalogs (commonly referred to as "MPC's) are basically set up based on Part Numbers, using that or a description is usually the most reliable Search. The manner in which the Text portion of the MPC is set up has, in the far-left column, the Group number, then the Body type application, the Year(s) application, Description, Part Number, and finally in the far-right hand column, the Quantity per Vehicle.
    e. Note that many times, a casting number/engineering number will show up under the "Description" column; consider this a "Bonus" as it is not the norm. Sometimes there may also be a # symbol for a footnote noting that the part is stamped with this number.
    f. Also note that many times, in both the Illustrations and Text Sections, you will see a "star" (★) symbol. This signifies that this part is "not normally serviced" due to one or more of the following reasons:
        i. Part is superseded and replaced as indicated in the description column of the text.
        ii. Part can be improvised as indicated in the description column of text.
        iii. Due to its function there would be little or no demand.

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS

This Ford Car Master Parts Catalog contains replacement parts and accessories information for the Ford, Fairlane, Mustang, Thunderbird, Bronco and Falcon passenger cars for the model years 1960 to the current date. SECTION, GROUP and BASIC NUMBERS

For greater convenience this catalog is divided into specific sections; such as brakes, front suspension, engine, transmission, etc. For example, FRONT SUSPENSION appears in section 30, STEERING in section 35, REAR AXLE in section 40, etc. The applicable exploded illustrations are contained in separate sections which are related to the text section numbers. For example STEERING illustrations appear in Illustration Section 35 of the "Illustrations" Catalog, Form AF 7635-B.

The basic part number groups and the section numbers under which each is listed, is shown on page number 8 of the general information section. In addition, immediately following each sectional divider is an index of the contents and location within the section.

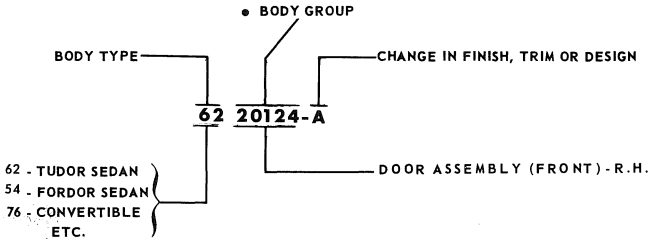

The basic part number groups shown on Page 8 have been expanded as shown in the Charts on pages 9, 10 and 11 to provide for additional groups to accomodate new lines. In numerical listings, expanded numbers will be considered to follow the same sequence as the regular basic numbers from which they are expanded and are arranged in Catalogs as follows.

3634
3A634

Illustrations contain basic group numbers only, therefore, it is necessary to refer to the basic group within this "text" catalog for complete applicable part numbers.

BASIC BODY PARTS NUMBERING SYSTEM

FOLLOWING IS A DIAGRAM OF THE BASIC BODY PARTS NUMBERING SYSTEM

• These five digits comprise the Body Group Numbers as used throughout each body parts section.

A complete group index of body parts has been included following the divider marked "Body Parts Index". The index is divided into areas of the car in alphabetical sequence; see page 1 of the Body Index Section.

BODY TYPE CODES

Most body parts and some chassis parts are identified by Body Type Codes. A complete listing of the codes and the body types which they represent is shown on pages 19, 20 & 21 of this General Information Section. Body types which are similar are identified by the same code number; alphabetical suffixes are used to identify a particular body type. For instance, in 1960/61 code 58 was used as follows:

Body Type Code	Body Type
58A	Fairlane "500" Town Sedan
58E	Fairlane Town Sedan
58F	Custom "300" Fordor Sedan

The body type numbers only are shown in the model column of the catalog text or with illustrations titles when all body types of a related group are affected. Thus, when body type code 58 only is shown, it includes 58A, 58E and 58F.

MODEL YEAR APPLICATION

Model year application is indicated by showing the first year followed by a diagonal line to imply continued usage in all subsequent years until the insertion of the last year of usage, which will then be inserted after the diagonal line. If no diagonal line is shown the part is applicable only to the year shown.

Example:

60/	indicates part used 1960 through subsequent models.
61/63	indicates part used 1961 through 1963 model years.
62	indicates part used 1962 model year only.

CATALOG FORMATS

Various formats are used throughout this catalog to coincide with the normal procedure for selecting the affected part numbers. Most areas of the catalog use a format arranged in the order shown below:

Column

1. Model year
2. Type of vehicle or equipment within a specific model year
3. Description, size, etc.
4. No. required per vehicle
5. Complete part number

Formats peculiar to a particular area of the catalog are generally self explanatory. When necessary, instructions are shown at the beginning of the affected group. For instance, the various charts and parts list method of cataloging in the Carburetor Section are explained on Page 1 of Section 95.

PARTS IDENTIFICATION

To assist in the identification of various parts and major assemblies, identification numbers are shown on the parts themselves or on tags or plates attached to selected major assemblies. Reference to identification numbers is made throughout the catalog, and cross reference charts are provided in some areas to facilitate the selection of the service part number when the identification number is known. It is most important that identification tags and plates be retained with the part or assembly with which they are originally furnished.

MODEL IDENTIFICATION SECTION

Following this General Information Section is a Model Identification Section which includes pictures of the various car lines by model year. This section is provided to assist in the identification of a vehicle when the patent or warranty plate information is not readily available.

STANDARD and UTILITY HARDWARE

Standard and utility hardware, such as bolts, screws, fittings, etc. are listed below the part with which they are used. To facilitate the stocking and handling of standard and utility parts by Ford dealers, locator codes are preassigned by Ford Motor Company. Autolite-Ford HIGH PERFORMANCE PARTS

COMPLETE REVISION

MARCH 1, 1968

GENERAL INFORMATION

This Parts and Price list supersedes all previous issues.

You can use the list in either of two ways:

1. Insert it behind the "HIGH PERFORMANCE PARTS and ACCESSORIES" divider tab in the front of your Ford or Lincoln Mercury Master Car Parts Catalog.

2. Use it as a separate reference by fastening the pages together with prong fasteners or inserting them in a standard three-ring binder.

It is planned to supplement this section with additional or revised pages at six month intervals. For interim parts price and application information, please refer to your regular Master Parts Catalog and Price List.

General information, index, abbreviations, etc. appear on pages II, III & IV which follow.

IMPORTANT NOTE:

Prices shown are manufacturer's suggested retail price. Installation charges and state or local taxes, if any, are extra.

The prices, descriptions and specifications contained in this book were in effect at the time this publication was approved for printing and are subject to change without notice and without liability therefore.

The Autolite-Ford Parts Division of Ford Motor Company, whose policy is one of continous improvement, reserves the right to discontinue or change models at any time.

The following symbols appearing on revised pages are to be interpreted as follows:

§ Indicates new part number being added.

HOW TO ORDER Autolite-Ford HIGH PERFORMANCE PARTS

On pages A1 through A54, you will find a numerical part number listing of parts and accessories available for servicing, modifying and equipping Ford vehicles for high performance. You will note that a majority of the part numbers have regular depot classifications (A, AA, B, C, etc.), thus it is generally no more complicated to order these than regular stock items.

One important difference, however, is in the part numbers which show the classification "DSO." This classification is being used to identify Special Order high performance (competition only) items which require special handling.

If the part number is classed "DSO" - or the class is not known - order from your facing parts depot on an interim Form AF-419-M. MARK THE ORDER "SPECIAL ORDER HIGH PERFORMANCE PARTS." To facilitate handling and help avoid discrepancies, it is recommended that special order parts always be ordered in writing - on a form or by telegram - rather than by telephone.

As is the case with all major assemblies, it is extremely important to provide as complete information as possible when ordering such things as rear axles, transmissions, carburetors, alternators and generators. Any component which has a tag or other identification should have the identification information included on the order.

If the part number you wish to order is a regular depot class item (A, AA, B, C, etc.) simply order in the usual manner for that particular class of part.

On pages B1 through B10, you will find the High Performance Parts Price List.

CARBURETORS

Carburetors are either tagged or the production number is stenciled on the body of the assembly. This part number can be cross-referenced to the appropriate Ford service part number in the Master Parts Catalog.

HOW TO ORDER Autolite-Ford HIGH PERFORMANCE PARTS

ALTERNATORS and GENERATORS

Alternators and generators have the manufacturer's production number stamped or stenciled on the assembly. In most instances, alternators and generators designated as DSO are merely standard components that have a special application. By cross-referencing the manufacturer's production number to a comparable Ford service part number in the Master Parts Catalog, the correct unit can usually be identified and ordered in the regular manner.

REAR AXLE ASSEMBLY IDENTIFICATION

Look for a tag or some other means of identifying the special assembly number. By cross reference in the Master Parts Catalog, find the list of individual parts within the assembly.

If the alternator or generator cannot be identified in the Master Parts Catalog, the identifying number which is on the unit should be used to order the part from your facing parts depot.

CLASSIFICATION OF PARTS

Because there are many different types of parts stocked at various locations, "depot parts classification" codes are assigned to each part. These codes serve to identify the type of merchandise involved, the Ford Depot to which orders are submitted and the normal shipping point from which dealers receive such orders.

NS	Not Serviced	Obsolete, superseded	Order Replacing Part Number
S	Standard Parts	Slow	National Parts Depot	National Parts Depot
V	Direct Ship Parts or Paints	Fast or Slow	Local Depot	Supplier Source

* For best service, it is recommended that dealers submit parts orders to depots as indicated above. However, dealers have the option to:

1. Submit the weekly stock orders directly to the stocking depot - which will save time and provide dealers with faster service.
2. Submit the total weekly stock order to their facing depot. The depots will in turn mail orders for other than "A" classified parts to the appropriate depot for shipment.

Errata

1. Since this document was retrieved from an active Ford dealership parts counter in the early 1980's, as Ford was transitioning from a paper based system to electronic, we can't confirm that it is 100% complete. However, it was obviously treated with care as you can see by the condition. With this in mind;
    a. There are missing page numbers throughout the document. However, the change notices provide instructions to "destroy" certain pages. What you are receiving in this manual is the exact representation of what was retrieved from the dealer. If you come across any missing pages that should, in fact, be included, kindly email them to Forel Publishing and we will update the master document which can be downloaded with a valid license.
    b. We do not have change notices prior to #15, but assume that the corrections provided in those change notices were incorporated into the body of the manual.
    c. Changes after change notice 28 (April 1968), if such changes exist, are most likely not included in the manual as of the time of this initial effort (March 2018). If any such documents are provided, this text will be updated to reflect the new information.

Helpful hints for Searching

1. The part number formatting in this document omits the first dash commonly found stamped or imprinted on actual parts and part boxes. For example, a part labelled C7ZZ-2B901-B on the box will be listed in this document as C7ZZ 2B091-B. Note the missing “dash”. Keep this in mind when performing text searches.
2. While text recognition was performed, with the express intent to assist in text based searches, please note that the software is not perfect. For example, the letter “O” and number “0” look very similar. When the software sees a “O” or “0” in the middle of a string containing text (C0AE for example), the number “0” can be incorrectly interpreted as a letter “O”. The same situation can occur with the number “1”, lower case letter “l”, and upper case letter “I”. If you are searching for something with these characters, and don’t get the results that you need, use alternate “look alike” characters.
3. Another alternative to finding parts would be to limit the search to the core number. In the example above, search for “2B091” instead of the full part number, and then visually look through all of the “2B091” parts to see if you can find what you are looking for.
4. If you can’t find the core number, look for nearby numbers. For example, if you are looking for a “2034” brake part (which is a bad example because it does not exist), you will come up empty. Next look for “2033”, “2032”, “2031” etc. until you get a hit, and then scroll up or down to get to the number you are interested in.
5. Some final items to remember when searching, are the differences between Engineering Numbers, Casting Numbers and Part Numbers.
    a. Engineering Numbers are established at the time of Design, and most always have an "E" in the fourth position of the prefix; such as "C60E-8501-A". These are numbers that one would typically see on Engineering Drawings and in Assembly Manuals.
    b. Casting numbers usually carry the same prefix as Engineering Numbers, and are cast into the part, or stamped into it. Keeping with the water pump example, this is C60E-A.
    c. Part Numbers are assigned to parts once they have been made available for servicing a vehicle, and packaged for sale. These are thus "Service Part Numbers". For example, C5AZ-8501-E.
    d. As the Master Parts and Accessories Catalogs (commonly referred to as "MPC's) are basically set up based on Part Numbers, using that or a description is usually the most reliable Search. The manner in which the Text portion of the MPC is set up has, in the far-left column, the Group number, then the Body type application, the Year(s) application, Description, Part Number, and finally in the far-right hand column, the Quantity per Vehicle.
    e. Note that many times, a casting number/engineering number will show up under the "Description" column; consider this a "Bonus" as it is not the norm. Sometimes there may also be a # symbol for a footnote noting that the part is stamped with this number.
    f. Also note that many times, in both the Illustrations and Text Sections, you will see a "star" (★) symbol. This signifies that this part is "not normally serviced" due to one or more of the following reasons:
        i. Part is superseded and replaced as indicated in the description column of the text.
        ii. Part can be improvised as indicated in the description column of text.
        iii. Due to its function there would be little or no demand.

MASTER PARTS AND ACCESSORIES ILLUSTRATION CATALOG

FORM AF-7635-B

AUTOLITE-FORD PARTS DIVISION

GENERAL INSTRUCTIONS

This Ford car master parts Catalog contains parts illustrations for the Ford passenger car line including Ford-Custom & Galaxie, Thunderbird, Falcon, Fairlane, Mustang and Bronco series for the model years 1960 to the current date.

For greater convenience this catalog is divided into specific sections; such as brakes, front suspension, engine, transmission, etc. For example, FRONT SUSPENSION appears in section 30, STEERING in section 35, REAR AXLE in section 40, etc.

A separate catalog which contains the text or descriptive information for the same model periods is available as Form AF 7635-A. The "Text" catalog is divided into sections also and like parts are shown under similar section numbers in both the "Text" and "Illustration" catalogs.

A listing of Ford basic or group numbers and their related section numbers appears in the General Information Section of the "Text" catalog, Form AF 7635-A.

The driver's side is the left hand side of the vehicle and should govern in determining such parts as fenders, lamps, etc. as to whether a part is right or left hand.

Model year application is indicated by showing the first year followed by a diagonal line to imply continued usage in all subsequent years until the insertion of the last year of usage, which will then be inserted after the diagonal line. If no diagonal line is shown the part is applicable only to the year shown.

Example:

60/	indicates part used 1960 through subsequent models.
61/63	indicates part used 1961 through 1963 model years.
62	indicates part used 1962 model year only.

For Patent or Warranty Plate data, Catalog Model Codes and Body Type Codes refer to the General Information Section of the "Text" catalog, Form AF 7635-A.
